

ONE CENT—LAST EDITION—ONE CENT

WRECKS GIRL'S BODY—$8,000 FINE
HUNDREDS OF LEPERS ROAM U. S.

THE DAY BOOK

An Adless Newspaper, Daily Except Sunday

VOL. 5, NO. 118 Chicago, Tuesday, February 15, 1916

398

WHITE SLAVERS LURE GIRL IN LOOP STORE

Clerk In Boston Store Says Fellow-Employe Introduced
Her to Men—Three Men Held—Girls From Three Stores Named In Story.

Sordid details of the vicious workings of a white slave gang that picked its prey from one of the richest fields—the department stores—were unearthed today by Ass't State's Att'y Hogan in the Juvenile Court. The Boston Store the Fair and Selgel-Cooper's were the sources of supply for the scarlet trade.

A 16-year-old girl, already wise far beyond her years, told how the band of men piled its trade in the State street stores, how the freshest girls were picked out and ensnared. Seven girls, all under 18, have been arrested; their stories confirm the tale of the first.

Mary Smith—that isn't her name—was brought into the Juvenile court when she grew so bad that even her trusting mother knew the truth.

Mary up to that time had worked in the Boston Store—in the daytime. She was sent there because the family, although respectable, couldn't afford to let Mary stay home.

When she went she was a rosy-cheeked and bright-eyed girl, rather bashful and inexperienced. Fresh